2014 Impact Women's Business & Empowerment Conference
Creating a Stronger Economy through Leadership Development and Business Grow

Birmingham, AL will unite 23 of the most influential and prolific business professionals, corporate and spiritual leaders, financial experts, and health professionals in the country at the 2014 Ladies of Royalty (L.O.R.) Impact Women's Business & Empowerment Conference on February 28th – March 1st.

The 2014 L.O.R. Impact Women's Business & Empowerment Conference will be held at the Birmingham Jefferson Convention Complex, which will feature the "Woman of the Year" Awards Luncheon, honoring seven influential women who are making an impact on a local, national, and global level.

Attendees will receive two days of power packed information which will include six business strategy workshops, compelling Q&A panel discussions, keynote address, business to business network opportunities, strategies to grow in a challenging market, and much more.

"As a leader our individual purpose in life is not to just build big businesses but to be a professional example and a beacon of light to those we encounter." says Yakinea Marie.

Yakinea Marie Duff, event coordinator and Executive Director of the L.O.R. Women's Business & Empowerment Network, Inc., is an author, speaker, and entrepreneur who understand the importance of staying relevant and connected through educational and entrepreneurial forums.
